MEA

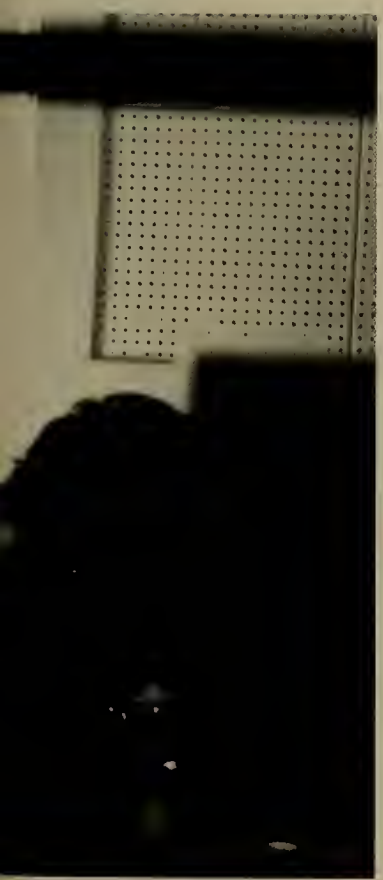

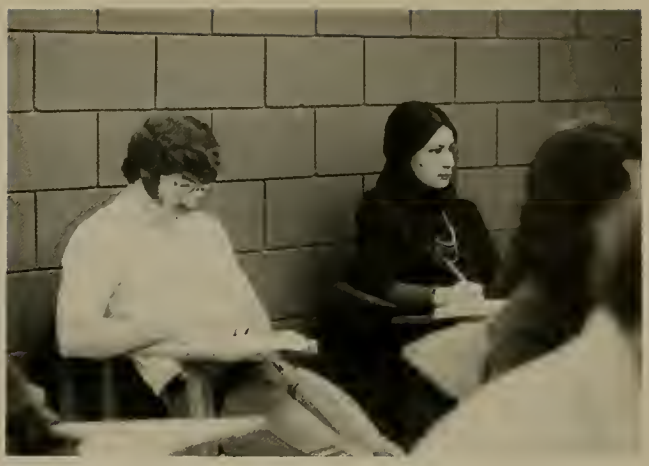

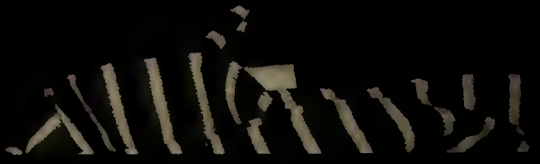

To be female:
To be of a little use, to live a busy full life and to really love a part, if not all of the work one finds to do, to think nobly, to strive earnestly, and to accept what comes, cheerfully. These are the simple rules that make for contentment. Can we, if we would, evade the joy of living?

HEN

Under the surface of this universe, there exists a dense, explosive, irradiative life, astoundingly self-contained.

Bless the beasts and the children
for in this world they have no voice
They have no choice

Bless the beasts and the children
For the world can never be the world they see

Light their way
When the darkness surrounds them
Give them love
Let it shine all around them

Bless the beasts and the children
Give them shelter from a storm
Keep them safe
Keep them warm.

KEEP RIGHT

Freedom is the right to choose, the right to create for oneself the alternatives of choice. Without the possibility of choice, and the exercise of right, a person is not a person, but a member, an instrument, a thing.

KNOLL

editor

As editor of the Knoll, I owe my utmost gratitude to J. Joseph Donovon of the Keller Publishing Company. His thoughts and suggestions saved me from making many preliminary mistakes. My appreciation also goes to Joe Crilley of Pennsylvania, our excellent color photographer. I would also like to acknowledge D.L. and N.L. for contributing all the artwork. To the others who gave me assistance throughout this year, I hope you will accept my thanks. Best wishes to the class of 1974.

Sincerely,
Deborah A. Foss
editor

The end of college, the last year. You can't wait to get out, to rid of endless lectures, torturous finals, required courses about which you couldn't care less.

Yet, leaving is scary. Where are you going? And why? And will it work? And isn't there something reassuring, something protective, something comforting about those warm spring mornings on campus, whist games, bull sessions, listening to music and curling up in the lap of soft college life?

The Senior Year Blues, O Lord, keep the world away from me.
